Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-8, 10-23 and 25-31 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claim 1, 3, 5, 8, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 25, 27, 28 and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fourie et al (US PAT. 6,356,629) in view of Barry et al (US Pat. 6,538,777).

3. Regarding claims 1, 3, 5, 8, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 25, 27, 28 and 30, Fourie discloses SVC call setup management strategy as associated in a connection-oriented (ATM) call traffic network wherein the strategy includes determining whether or not congestion exist for the purpose of setting up calls, call setup is implemented and setup thresholds are utilized (Abstract, col. 1, line 10-25, col. 3, line 6-41, col. 6, line 35-43), implementing initiation of new setup when certain thresholds are exceeded, discarding setup messages as associated with exceeding threshold (release threshold) (col. 5, line 38-51), predetermined/preset threshold values assigned, utilizing aggregate number of calls and cell rate to establish call (Fig. 6, col. 4, line 25-61, col. 5, line 11-67, col. 6, line 24-43). However, Fourie is silent on assigning ATM channels to at least one new path after setting-up the at least one new path. In a method for establishing connections by allocating links and channels, Barry discloses assigning channels based on path assignment, wherein allocation of channels on allocated path in a SONET or ATM environment is utilized (col. 1, line 58-61, col. 4, line 9-19). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skilled in the art at the time of the invention to be motivated to implement assigning channels after the setting up of a new path as suggested by Barry with the teachings of Fourie for the purpose of further organizing setup communication between communicating nodes.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claim 2, 4, 6, 7-11, 13, 15, 17, 19, 21- 24, 26, 29 and 31 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

5. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: Although the combined prior discloses a communication system wherein SVC call setup management strategy as associated in a connection-oriented (ATM) call traffic network wherein the strategy includes determining whether or not congestion exist for the purpose of setting up calls, predetermined thresholds, and utilizing setting up threshold and releasing thresholds, they fail to teach or suggest with respect to claim 2, making anticipatory decision regarding a path takes into account the capacity of the path currently used for transmission of information and required future capacity, with respect to claims 6, 21 setup/release threshold values are variable values administered by the ATM network, with respect to claims 7, 13, 22, 29, an ATM network is AAL2 network, with respect to claim 11, 19, 26, setup/release threshold corresponds to at least one minimum and maximum of a distance between currently used network resources and all available path resources, with respect to claim 15, 31, a path release for at least one path in the network is initiated if the capacity of the path currently used for transmission of information is below a threshold during at least a preset period of time or if the capacity of the path currently used for transmission is on average below a threshold during at least a preset period of time, with respect to 17, capacity of the path currently used for transmission include capacity necessary for at least one of the new call and data transmission.
